

Last Updated Tuesday, 16 March 2010

CREATIVE ORGANISATIONAL CHANGE

At Arnhouse we work with individuals, teams and organisations to effect creative change. The unique process we use integrates the rational with the instinctual.

Through direct questioning people are encouraged to clarify their values, purpose and vision. This process of clarification creates balance. The rational mind is supported by the inner instinctual knowledge, and vice versa.

Once balance is achieved, effective and creative solutions to problems naturally arise.

People connect on many levels with the process, resulting in insight and the power to embrace positive change for themselves, team and organisation.

Discover igniting Passion energising Vision inspiring Action flow Create celebrating

